WINTER HEATING TIPS

Nothing heats like wood. With winter upon us, now is the time to ensure that you are getting the most out of your wood heater.

- Mr Stoves Pool World can service your wood heater. We have trained and experienced servicemen who can inspect your heater. We also carry an extensive range of spare parts to suit most wood heaters.
- We recommend SmartBurn as an effective way to keep your flue clean. One per season should be sufficient.
- If you still need your flue cleaned then phone Webby's Chimney Sweeps.
- Go outside and check your flue for smoke. If there is an excessive amount of smoke, you are wasting heat and fuel and causing unnecessary emissions. You will need to increase the air to your fire.
- Most heaters burn better with 3-4 logs rather than 1-2. Always burn dry, well seasoned wood.
- Heaters without grates perform better with approximately 10mm of ash or hot coals. Cleaning need only be done periodically.
- Allow 15—20 minutes after refueling your fire before shutting it down. This will ensure that your fire burns correctly. Ensure that air intakes are open when refueling. This also applies when loading the fire box to burn overnight.

- When buying a new wood heater ensure that you have it correctly installed by a qualified licensed plumber or builder. Phone Jeffrie Arbuthnot 0418 777 142 for your qualified installation.

- There are many cleaning products available to clean the glass on your wood heater, but a good old fashioned remedy is: ensure the glass is cool, take a well wetted paper towel, gently dab the paper towel in the fine ashes that you are cleaning out of the fireplace and cover the wet paper with ashes. Start wiping the paper up and down and sideways on the glass. The ash removes unspent creosote and built up resin from the glass without a scratch.
- Gas heaters need to be serviced and inspected regularly (most recommend 2 yearly) to ensure that emissions are within safe standards. Phone Advanced Gas & Plumbing to arrange a service.

EXCITING & NEW

Mr Stoves Pool World is your local dealer for Lopi (pronounced Low-pie) wood and gas heaters. Lopi heaters have been made in America for thirty years and imported into Australia for 22 years. Our in-store display, includes a working wood heater along with displays of both wood and gas models.

Lopi wood heaters include a high performance convection chamber as a standard feature and are the only non-catalytic stoves to feature a standard bypass damper for smokeless startup and reloading. With heavy gauge steel construction, solid airtight doors and commercial grade firebricks, these heaters are built to last a lifetime.

Lopi offer the very latest in 'Direct Vent' or 'Balanced Flue' gas fireplaces. Lopi gas fireplaces are available in freestanding form for easy installation, as zero clearance fireplaces suitable for installation in timber stud work and as gas inserts, designed to replace existing open masonry fireplaces or chimneys

Come into our store to view any one of the four wood heaters and two gas heaters that we have on display.

"Burning wood emits no more carbon dioxide into the environment than would normally be produced from the same wood if left to decay on the ground."

WINTER POOL TIP

If you have a salt chlorinator and are experiencing problems with high chlorine levels in your pool (symptoms will be damage to your pool cleaner, pool cover or pool heater) then a good solution is to install a Chemigem Controller.

The Chemigem Controller measures chlorine level and pH and doses acid or runs the salt chlorinator only when needed to keep the levels right automatically. The benefit in the summer is to provide consistent levels of water sanitation.

This means you get a better result – and save money!
